6 EXTENSIVE SYSTEMS

Suspension systems for command enclosures and displays

Be it for direct control or monitoring, today's machines and assembly lines demand professional suspension arm systems for positioning. The ROLEC range encompasses a total of seven product lines with various technical characteristics - for light, moderate and heavy loads. Each system is modular and configured from individual components to suit each installation. The product range includes numerous connection possibilities with panels from leading manufacturers such as Siemens, B&R or Beckhoff. All our suspension arm systems are naturally also compatible with our command enclosures.
